Corus360 and SecureAgent Partnership Expands Data Center Technologies

NORCROSS, GA and TULSA, OK (January 25, 2010) – Corus360, a technology consulting and solutions company, and Secure Agent Software, a leading developer of enterprise security solutions, announced today they have formed a business partnership to provide the latest in turn-key data backup, security, and disaster recovery solutions. This alliance will allow both companies to drive new growth opportunities and provide their respective customers with a more comprehensive solution.

The companies will jointly make available the Secure Data Solution® enhanced backup and recovery program. The Secure Data Solution eliminates or reduces tape-mounting time, physical tape stock, tape drives and their maintenance, and off-site tape transport and storage, all resulting in reduced user costs. The patented SecureAgent disk-to-disk technology delivers increased service levels, reliability, and productivity. Proprietary software features ensure secure data compression and encryption at the highest legal levels throughout the process. The Secure Data Solution also decreases required floor space and significantly reduces power/cooling costs.

SecureAgent has not only earned an impeccable reputation as a pioneering data services solution provider, but also has been awarded more than a dozen US and European patents. SecureAgent data management applications are in use throughout the United States and Europe. They are a preferred solution for some of the world's largest banks, communication companies, and tier-one outsourcers.

In addition to making the Secure Data Solution available to its clients, Corus360 will itself use the Solution in its new Atlanta data center. The opening of the new data center rounds out Corus360's vision for an IT managed-services and disaster recovery facility. "Corus360's investment in creating a LEED Gold-certified building and data center is an investment in our clients and our future," said Tom Lowry, Chief Technology and Sustainability Officer of Corus360. "The new data center, equipped with environmentally-conscious and efficient technology services, marks a milestone for all of us at Corus360."

"We designed the Secure Data Solution to meet the increasingly flexible and evolving needs of modern data centers. The joint partnership with Corus360 enables more companies to profit from the Secure Data Solution's advanced technology," said R. Brent Johnson, president of SecureAgent Software.
